Superheroes Save the Day!

Naperville residents can rest easy, the superheroes of Players Indoor's Superhero Sports programs are out in full force this winter. The pint size superheroes are participating in basketball, soccer and t-ball classes daily.

These superhero classes are designed for ages two through six and each class is full of new challenges and skills. Coach Eric designs the classes to teach the basic skills of each sport, but with a super hero twist. Instead of dribbling a soccer ball in Superhero Soccer, the children learn "little kicks" which make them invisible as they run down the field.

The biggest draw for the Superhero Sports programs isn't just the super skills; each participant receives a different superhero clothing item. Superhero Soccer participants receive capes, Super Sluggers sport super caps, and Super Hoopers get jerseys.

As important as it is to get children active at a young age, it is equally important to teach them about team work and working together. The Superhero Sports incorporate this philosophy into every class.

With classes every day of the week, there is sure to be a session to fit any family's busy life. New for 2012 are the Saturday and Sunday classes, with times for each sport and age group.

Superhero Sports is just one of the programs at Players Indoor Sports Center designed to get the whole family involved and active. Registrations for all of the Superhero Sports are available online, www.playersindoor.com.

Also, coming this April, the first annual Kids Spring Fling will be hosted at Players, for information on becoming a sponsor or vendor contact Players today by calling (630) 470.6400.

Midwest Combines Football Combine Comes to Players

2012 is bringing many new events to Players. This Spring, the first Midwest Football Combine will take place.

With Combine360 testing, developed by Under Armour and IMG Performance Institute, it is the most scientific and standardized athlete evaluation system available.

The Midwest Football Combine takes place March 17th and is a joint effort between the trainers and coaches of Players Indoor and Acceleration Naperville.

Call today for more information, registration is open online now!
